The Association of American Directory Publishers is composed of reputable City Directory Publishers, organized for the general advancement of the Directory business. Any person, corporation or firm engaged in business as owner and Publisher of a City Directory in the United States or Canada, who shall qualify as competent to gather information and compile a City Directory and furnish satisfactory references, is eligible to membership.

The objects of the Association are:

First. The advancement of the Directory business and the improvement of Directories by the interchange of ideas and the exchange of experienced employes.

Second. To provide protection to the public against fraudulent advertising schemes which operate under the name of Directories, and to drive unprincipled promoters of the same out of the business.

Third. To provide permanent and profitable employment to competent, industrious and honest Directory canvassers and compilers.

Fourth. For the mutual protection and advancement of the established and prospective interests of all who may become members, by personal advice and assistance of members as may be mutually satisfactory, desirable or advisable, and by such other means as may, from time to time, be shown to be wise, proper and lawful.

$100.00 Reward Will be paid by the Association for the arrest and conviction of any person or persons engaged in publishing, collecting or canvassing for any fraudulent or fake directory

INTRODUCTORY

1358786

This, the Directory of the City of Indianapolis for 1912, records another definite step forward in the history of a great city.

This volume presents an endless array of important and necessary information —facts and figures marshaled in convenient and logical order, any one of which can be instantly called to stand at "attention" and salute the reader.

It is not a "Who's Who."

It is a "Who's Here" and "What's Here"—and it reflects accurately the life and growth of this community.

Who looks for Romance between the two covers of a City Directory?

Few look, but those who do will find it. It's there.

This volume is a record of one year's achievement, progress and success—the most romantic of all records.

It records the birth of new businesses, new sky-scrapers, new homes! It tells of new enterprises. It speaks the fact when one man's ambitions and energy have carried him from superintendent to general manager or president of a business establishment.

It shows the growth of established concerns—their removal to better and larger quarters.

It gives the names and addresses of 2,150 men and women who one year ago were not citizens of Indianapolis. It tells where these new citizens may be found at their work, what they do there—and where they live—a city of people all in themselves.

It records successful courtships and weddings, by pointing out the residence of new householders.

It follows the city's physical growth, giving the names and locations of new streets as they gradually creep into the open country on all sides.

It reflects, in fact, every impulse and activity of a city's people as surely as a mirror, for it is nothing more and nothing less than an accurate picture of what they are doing and what they have done.

This directory contains the names of 104,286 persons, and based upon this Indianapolis to-day has a population of 260,715. Experience has demonstrated that there are two and one-half inhabitants to each name listed, a proportion which we believe to be fair and conservative. The population of Indianapolis as announced in the Directory for 1911 was 255,340. Indianapolis has thus gained in one year 5,375 inhabitants.

The names, addresses and all facts presented in this volume have been carefully gathered, compiled, arranged and classified. Our one thought has been accuracy and completeness, for we appreciate the good will, confidence and support of our patrons. Their satisfaction and convenience have been our aim. And for their assistance in furnishing information and other help, we extend our sincere thanks.

At our offices, 320–324 American Central Life Building, we maintain a Directory Library, containing current copies of the Directories of all the larger cities. Patrons of this company are urged to make use of this Library and to avail themselves of any other courtesy which is within our power.

Commercial Club Building, 28 South Meridian Street

A COMMERCIAL AND CIVIC ORGANIZATION with a membership of twenty-five hundred, composed of the leading business and professional men of the city, which stands for the betterment of Indianapolis and Indiana.

Indianapolis in the Present

Special Points Which Give the City Distinction as a Modern Progressive American Community

As Seen by the Commercial Club

Indianapolis is forty miles from the center of population of the United States.

It is in the geographical center of manufacturing of the United States.

It is in population, transportation facilities and volume of business transacted the largest inland city, not on a navigable stream, in the United States.

It has a population of 260,000, with more than 2,000,000 people living within two hours' ride of the city.

It is the capital of Indiana and in the geographical center of the state, with railroad or electric railway connections with every county in the state.

It has an area of 34 square miles.

It is the seat of the following state institutions: Indiana State Fair, Indiana School for the Blind, Indiana School for the Deaf, School of Medicine of Indiana University, the Indiana Girls' School, the Indiana Woman's Prison, the Central Hospital for the Insane.

It has more than 1,200 factories, with 30,000 skilled mechanics employed.

It has twenty-six parks, nearly all public, with 3,000 acres.

It has seventeen steam railroads, connecting directly with all the great cities of the Central West, and also with Washington, Philadelphia, New York and Boston.

It has thirteen electric interurban systems, made up of six lines, which in 1911 carried 6,279,822 passengers to and from the city, an average of 17,205 a day, 517 passenger cars being handled each day in the largest and most pretentious interurban station in the United States. Freight cars to the number of 23,859 were also handled by this station.

It has three direct steam roads to the coal fields of Indiana.

It has two steam roads direct to the stone quarries of southern Indiana.

In the output of automobiles it is the second city of America.

It has the greatest motor speedway in the world.

It has one of the best mile tracks for the training and racing of trotting and pacing horses in America.

The total bank and trust company deposits in 1911 amounted to $58,000,000. The total resources of these concerns for the year was $98,000,000.

The Post Office receipts last year amounted to $1,351,342.02.

The city has 200 wholesale and jobbing houses, representing all lines of trade, with a market extending well over the Central West.

Indianapolis importations last year amounted to $546,261.

It has 125 miles of streets improved with asphalt, wood block, brick and other materials.

It has 160 miles of city electric car lines, operating over double tracks, with four-cent fare and universal transfers.

The total assessed valuation of Indianapolis property is $212,262,000.

The municipal bonded indebtedness is only $3,445,000.

The city tax rate is only $2.12 on each $100.00.

There were 5,011 births and 3,741 deaths in 1911.

Its building permits in 1911 amounted to $8,349,477.

Its real estate transfers in 1911 amounted to $24,456,609.

It has 175 miles of sewers.

It has 335 miles of water mains, using 21,000,000 gallons every day.

It has artificial gas at 60 cents a thousand feet, supplied by two companies.

It has an unrivaled street lighting system.

It has 40,000 telephones, with long distance connections with city, town, and farm throughout the State.

It has one of the most beautiful and best appointed post office buildings in the United States, erected at a cost of $2,000,000.

It has the largest and most inspiring Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument in the world.

It has twenty modern office buildings, six to sixteen stories high, and more under construction.

It has a Y. M. C. A. building which the public erected at a cost of $250,000; a Y. W. C. A. building, which the public provided at a cost of $140,000, and is this year building a colored Y. M. C. A. building at a cost of $100,000.

It has 64 public and high school buildings, valued at $4,292,000.

In the John Herron Art Institute, the city has one of the noted art museums of the United States.

In Fort Benjamin Harrison it has one of the largest United States army posts in the country.

It has 70 hotels, which afford living on any scale desired for conventions of any size.

It has exceptional facilities for national conventions and entertains several hundred thousand visitors every year.

It has one of the largest city market houses of the Middle West, which supplies the city with the best products of the country.

It is a city made up largely of home owners, many thousand families occupying their own property.

It is abundantly supplied with apartment houses, large and pretentious.

It is pre-eminently an industrial city because of its geographical location in relation to the general market, because of its exceptional shipping facilities, abundance of labor, freedom from strikes and labor disputes and the nearness of the fuel supply. Coal from the Indiana field is delivered to power plants at about $1.25 a ton.

It has several very large industrial buildings for small manufacturing concerns, which supply space, power and other facilities at reasonable cost.

It has a public library with immeasurable resources, with numerous branches over the city. The reference library in the Indiana State House is one of the largest and best organized to be found in any American commonwealth.

It is bountifully supplied with schools of music, art, for commercial training, and in medicine and dentistry.

It has in the Normal School of the North American Gymnastic Union one of the great training schools for physical directors.

It is generously supplied with pretentious club houses, gymnasiums, theaters, roof gardens.

It supports a public orchestra, numerous musical organizations and societies which are active in the cultural development of the people.

All in all, Indianapolis is in the fore rank as a delightful American city in which to live, for the civic spirit is always aglow in the general advancement of the community, of the people, and of all civic and commercial interests.

STREET AND AVENUE GUIDE

[COPYRIGHT 1912]

THE Street Directory is an alphabetical arrangement of the names of the Streets and Avenues of the city. By the decimal system of numbering houses adopted in this city, one hundred numbers are allotted to each square. On streets running north and south the numbering begins at Washington street. The streets running east and west are numbered East and West from Meridian street. All other streets not commencing at either of the above points are numbered in accordance with this system. The names and numbers of intersecting streets and avenues are given in the order in which they occur, which enables one to tell between what streets a certain number is. For instance, you have 820 Harlan street: by reference to the Street Directory, you find 800 at Lexington av. and 900 at Pleasant street; consequently, the place you wish to find is between Lexington av. and Pleasant street.

The marginal letters of the alphabet refer to the nearest street car line. For example, you wish to go to 520 E. Sixteenth: you refer to Sixteenth street in the Street Directory and find that 520 would be between Central av. and Park av. and the letter "B" in the margin, then by referring to the street railway lines you find the letter "B" is the Central av. line, which is the nearest car.

"BURNHAM" Steam Pumps

Guaranteed to Users of Steam Pumps

We guarantee all Steam Pumps made by us to be equal to the best the market affords in quality and service. All pumps sold from our factory, or through our agents, are made of the best material for the purpose, and in the best workmanlike manner. They are thoroughly tested under the supervision of one of the company, and any pump ordered according to our tables can be returned at our expense and purchase money refunded, or another pump furnished, if desired, if it does not perform the service. All parts are made duplicate, interchangeable, and can be furnished promptly. Pumps will be furnished to responsible parties and ample time given to test the same.

American Standard Life Assurance Company

Indianapolis, Indiana

A Step Forward in Conservation

The American Standard Life Assurance Company is organized to operate as the re-insuring company of the Columbus Securities—its purpose being to accumulate quickly a large insurance business by the absorption of the insurance of small companies. The American Standard aims to supply a real need in the insurance field. Many young companies recently organized in the West and South, out of a total of over 200, aggregating more than $20,000,000 of capital, owing to lack of adequate surplus and business volume, are unable to compete successfully with their stronger Eastern rivals, the result being that a work of conservation is called for. In such a multiplicity of managements where one would be sufficient a glaring absence of economy must be manifest. As an illustration of the expense burden imposed, a list of 50 young companies of these sections shows a cost of production and maintenance of $23.50 per thousand of insurance, whereas 8 average Eastern companies show $6.28 per thousand. In other words, several millions of dollars per year can be saved to investors in young companies in the West and South by a union of interests and the elimination of unnecessary overhead charges.

American Standard Life of Indianapolis, Indiana

The American Standard Life Assurance Company of Indianapolis filed articles of incorporation in Indiana recently, naming its capital at $100,000 and surplus of an equal amount. The company will act as a reinsurance company for life organizations controlled by the Columbus Securities of Philadelphia. Negotiations are said to be under way by which several concerns will be taken over, giving the American Standard some $10,000,000 or $15,000,000 of insurance in force. Samuel Quinn, who was prominently connected with the organization of the State Life, of Indianapolis, and afterwards its vice-president, is president of the new company. The other officers are: John L. Baker, Secretary; Charles A. Bookwalter, Treasurer; William J. Henley, General Counsel; all representative citizens of Indianapolis. The directorate is composed of men conspicuous for their business and professional success.—Spectator, January 4, 1912.

The American Standard has no stock to sell and is not a promotion enterprise. Its aim is to conserve present interests and bring about through economy of management a success not attainable under present conditions.

Full information as to its plans of operation can be obtained by addressing

SAMUEL QUINN, President

Fletcher American National Bank Building, Indianapolis, Ind.

"Numbers Eliminate Chance"

SAID ADAM SMITH. There are phases of business which can be handled more profitably by combinations than by individuals. This is a truth which needs no argument. Individual efforts are futile as against the combined forces of men money and ideas. The original idea of the corporation came from Julius Cæsar. The intent was to provide for the continuance and perpetuity of enterprises which no one man could carry out alone, and certainly not in a lifetime. The man who said that corporations had no souls spoke in haste. The corporation that has no soul is dead and will soon be buried. A soul is a great animating purpose—a oneness of aim, a beneficent, living, active desire.

Samuel Quinn of Indianapolis is combining the interests of a number of insurance companies into a holding company—

The Columbus Securities Company

—a corporation with a soul. The idea being to increase profits of all the companies by lessening operating expense.

The company has achieved a wonderful success. Its interests extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Its assets, when present properties in process of acquisition are taken over, will exceed $3,000,000.00. The total resources of the banks in which it either exercises control as a majority stockholder or has stock interest, exceed $7,000,000.00.

It controls four insurance corporations, with resources in excess of $1,500,000.00. And it is now absorbing two other insurance properties, the resources of which will reach close to $1,000,000.00.

If you want to know more about it and the possibilities of you sharing its profits, address
